

PRESS RELEASE: album release December 10th 2007

Vocal album ‘Angel of Music’, by Gill Roslin, launches December 10th in the UK.

The album features three original pieces written for Gill by UK composer Craig Gannon, who has a long association with many leading artists in the music industry. Formerly guitarist with The Smiths, Craig has worked with Morrissey, Aztec Camera, Terry Hall, Alison Moyet and many others. Gill’s broad music interests are reflected in this album, drawing on her progressions over time from folk, to classical, to world music.

Gill’s music mentor Craig Barbour describes the album as

“An experience of being carried on the wings of Gill’s enchanting voice, irresistible in its open-hearted quality.”

Craig Barbour works with actors and singers in London’s West End, at The National Theatre, the RSC and on BBC Radio and Television.

This is Gill Roslin’s first vocal album.

